

Arlington Dental Bowling Team

Week 12 Newsletter

By Bill Stach

Bill Bowl's 501!

Since I'm writing the newsletter this week I get to set the title. I know this isn't much for you guys, but it's my first 500 series. Chris wanted "Arlington Dental bowls over Colonel Sanders". Sorry Chris, when you write the newsletter you get to pick the title. Colonel Sanders (John Coffey) didn't bowl so he sat with us and bought me a beer. I like him already. The other team, Legion, were pretty good guys to bowl with. They graciously accepted a loss of 7 points.

Lee's scores were right on the money with his average for the first 2 games and really helped us clinch those games. Looks like he got tired in the third game though. Art said he should have been there to crack a few jokes to help Lee through the last game. Oh yeah Lee, we have some good news for you . . . you won the mystery pot in the second game, $106! Uh, the bad news, we didn't put you in the mystery pot. You can still buy us a beer anyway.

Our mentor and resident humorist Art had this one for you guys that missed it: Then there was the hooker that had Thanksgiving tattooed on one thigh and Christmas tattooed on the other. She suggested that her clients come visit her between the holidays. And now for the business of bowling . . .

Yes we took all 7 points. Here's the breakdown:

	Game 1	Game 2	Game 3	Total
Chris	159	191	172	522
Mark	194	155	166	515
Bill	156	164	181	501
Art	169	194	182	545
Lee	216	217	184	617
H'Cap	182	182	182	546
Total	1076	1103	1067	3246
Legion	1029	1049	1006	3084

As you can see no one was outstanding the entire night, but we balanced out very well. And we had fun doing it. By the way they printed out a copy of Lee's scores and left it on the counter for us. We had to program it into the computer before each game. It was not automatically entered into the computer. No problem.

L&O bowled on the lanes next to us. I'm not sure how well they did but they were pretty quiet most of the night. They started right on time and were in their third frame when we finally got going. Legion seemed to have some problems getting their information straight in the computer. Well we finished ahead of L&O and I couldn't resist so I let 'em have it with "Hey, are you guys still bowling?" And that's Bill's Line of the Week.

My newsletter is kind of the Reader's Digest version of Pete's, short but sweet. Hopefully we'll see you next Friday Pete. You can have the journalist job back. So shut up and bowl!

P.S. Pete, I'll bring last Friday's paperwork with me and give it to you on Friday.

Mark, please pass a copy of this along to your dad. I forgot his e-mail address at home.
